

UTILITIES COMMISSIONER SAYS THAT CITY SOLICITOR'S LETTER INDICATES THAT HE IS PARTIAL

Sees No Reason Why Civic Attorney
Should Not Answer All Questions
May Demand Reply

WANTS TO KNOW EXTENT OF THE COUNCIL'S POWER

Solicitor Points Out That Question Is Now Before the Courts and that it would be Unwise for him to Express any Opinion

That City Solicitor Bown, by his refusal to define how a Commissioner can be dismissed by the council, is throwing his influence in the members of the city council who are in favor of discharging the utilities commissioner, was the opinion expressed to The Capital by Commissioner Bouillon this morning.

Yesterday the commissioner addressed a letter to the City Solicitor in which he stated that in his opinion the council's attempts to unseat him were illegal and asking for the solicitor's opinion as to what procedure the council should follow in order to "effectively" relieve a commissioner of his office.

Solicitor Bown this morning replied to the commissioner's letter stating that as the question was now before the courts he did not think it would be proper for him to venture an opinion until such time as the case came up for trial.

"I understand that the city solicitor takes the ground that in his official capacity he acts for the executive department of the city, the commissioners, and the legislative body, the council," said the reporter.

"That is my understanding," replied Commissioner Bouillon, "and for that reason I am unable to believe that the city solicitor should give me the opinion which I asked for, the same as he would if he were asked a question by one of the aldermen."

"You will notice in Mr. Bown's letter that he says he could give an opinion only to 'his clients.' I consider myself, in my official capacity, as being one of those clients and for that reason can see no reason why he should evade the questions which I asked in my letter."

The city solicitor's letter is as follows:
A. V. Bouillon, Esq., City Commissioner, Edmonton:

Dear Sir:—In reply to yours of the 9th inst., requesting my opinion as to the mode of procedure that the Council should initiate and follow to effectively remove a Commissioner, I beg to state that this is one of the questions at issue in the suit now pending between Gallagher, et al., and Armstrong, et al., and as it will be fully argued before the court I do not think I should express any opinion whatever on the matter. I may state, however, that on the hearing of the injunction motion, Mr. Justice Beck expressed an opinion to the effect that there should be a regular trial. As I have already said, I do not think it will be proper for me, an officer of the court and one of the solicitors engaged in the litigation, to express any opinion whatever except to my clients until I may have to argue the matter during the course of the trial.

Yours truly,
JOHN C. BOWN,
City Solicitor.

APPLICATIONS FOR LIQUOR LICENCES REFUSED BY BOARD

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC OFFICIALS OPPOSE GRANTING OF PERMITS TO HOTELS IN WEST EDMONTON—LI-CENSE NOT A NECESSITY.

A strong objection to the granting of a hotel liquor license in the village of West Edmonton (Galders) is expressed by President Hays of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in a letter to the vice-president and general manager of the company, E. J. Chamberlain, which was read before the license commission this morning, when rival applications for a license in the village were brought up for consideration. The letter was read by Dr. McQueen, who appeared to oppose the granting of either license.

The applications were turned down on the ground that they are not necessary for the convenience of the public. The session was held in the council chamber and the rival applicants, Messrs. Chamberlain, Edmondson, McKeen, chairman, Edmondson, Thibault, McKeen, Orlis, and D. C. Bayne, staff, were present at the hearing. Robert A. Dewar and C. E. Perkins were the rival applicants for licenses in West Edmonton, and the question of precedence in the filing of applications was expected to come before the commissioners. As it was, however, this question was not considered. The applications were fought by Dr. McQueen, who was represented by Commissioner Thibault, appearing for the city commissioners. Dr. McQueen contended that the license was not required for the convenience of the traveling public, and that the granting of a liquor license would be injurious to the families of the employees of the G.T.P. shops, constitute a danger to property in the city, and the traveling public. A. C. Lancy, chief license inspector, was present on behalf of the liquor license branch.

WILL DREDGE FOR GOLD ON SASKATCHEWAN THIS SEASON

TWO COMPANIES ARE NOW MAKING ARRANGEMENTS
TO INSTALL UP-TO-DATE MACHINERY—COUNCIL
OPENS TENDERS FOR POWER MACHINERY

Strathcona, Mar. 10.—The lure of golden fortunes lured thousands of men to the Saskatchewan river already caused the loss of thousands of gold capital dollars in river dredges but there is little doubt that a much more successful search for gold will be made this season.

It will be remembered that the last venture to dredge fortunes from the river stretches above this city was made by the Northern Gold dredging Co., of which the chief promoter was Mr. Clarke, a wealthy Chicago financier. Very costly machinery was installed on the company's big dredge and some splendid runs in gold washing are known to have been made although the dredge was abandoned only a few days ago. This dredge which now lies high and dry on an up-stream

STAGE FROM EDSON TO GRAND PRAIRIE

Will Be Placed in Operation Within the Next Few Weeks—Travel 40
Miles Per Day

A stage that will carry passengers to and from the Grand Prairie country at the rate of forty miles a day will be placed in operation on the new government road from Edson northwards towards the Grand Prairie, within the next week or two.

This information has been received officially by the provincial government. The road is now nearly completed, and when ready for travel the stage will be put in operation. The stage line, which will include several teams for the transportation of freight and passengers, is expected to make at least 40 miles a day, during the coming summer. Hundreds of settlers are preparing to go into Grand Prairie this spring and summer, and the large majority of them will go by way of the new government road from Edson, which was at first constructed by public subscription from the citizens of the town, but which has recently been taken over by the government.

TO ENCOURAGE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Edmonton Horticultural Society Will Give Medals For Gardens and Flowers

Further encouragement towards the movement for the beautification of the city, by the establishment of beautiful gardens and street parks, is to be given by the Edmonton Horticultural Society this year. This will be one of the objects towards which they will direct their best efforts.

At a meeting of the directors of the organization held Wednesday evening, the prize list for the year was arranged. This will be a much more extensive one than last year, and will provide considerable encouragement for the growing of flowers and the establishment of flower gardens and lawns in the city.

The city will be divided into districts of suitable proportions in which medals are to be given this year for the best gardens. Competition will be open to both amateurs and professionals, each in their own class, and the awards will be so distributed as to furnish the greatest encouragement to the competition.

Full details of the medals and prizes will be announced in the near future, and the meaning those who desire information regarding the competitions, may obtain it from the secretary of the association, Mr. W. McQueen, exhibition office.

Tidals, Trans-Canada, March 10.—An avalanche swept down upon and crashed a workman's tenement near here while the occupants were still asleep early to-day.

CREE INDIANS DEMAND RAILWAY

Interview With Chief in Cree Paper, Gives Emphatic Demand to Premier for Railway Northwest

"Peter Bright Eyes Demands a Railway to the North Country."
That is the appeal of a Cree chief to Premier Sifton. Printed in free characters, with a heading in French setting forth the substance of the article, an emphatic demand for railways into the country north-east of Edmonton, came to Premier Sifton this morning by the columns of the Cree paper published at Sacred Heart in the northern part of the Saskatchewan.

"Away up in Sacred Heart, 50 miles north of Vegreville, there is an enterprising Indian, Father Bailer, who prints with a hand press, the Cree paper in Alberta. Premier Sifton is one of the regular subscribers to the monthly Cree Magazine. Published prominently in the March issue, is the interview with the Cree chief, in which he demands railways for the north."

Premier Sifton may not be an expert in Cree language, but it will be quite simple for him to understand the French heading to the article. The magazine is printed in the Cree syllable, and all the press work is done by the missionary, Father Bailer, himself.

A meeting will be held at the Building Exchange, McDougall Court tomorrow (Saturday) at 4:30 p.m., to formulate plans for the celebration of the King's coronation in Edmonton on June 22nd. All society and club secretaries are cordially invited to attend.

CANADIAN NORTHERN EXPECTS TO CONSTRUCT FORTY MILES OF PEACE RIVER LINE THIS YEAR

Contract will Probably Be Let This Spring—Plan to Commence Construction Work at Onaway

RAILWAY SURVEYORS ARE BACK FROM NORTHLAND

Have Located Eighty Miles of Peace
River Line-- Will Cross Athabasca
30 Miles West of McLeod River.

The Canadian Northern railway will be the first railway to build into the Peace River country. The Capital learned this morning, on what may be taken as good authority, that it is the intention of that railway company to build 40 miles this summer, on their line running northwest from Onaway, toward Dunvegan on the Peace river.

The main line west of Edmonton has already been completed to Onaway, which is just east of Lac Ste. Anne. The Peace river line will leave the main line at that point. It is expected that a contract for the construction of the 40 miles towards Dunvegan will be granted this spring. The four miles will carry the line beyond the Pembina river.

A. Fraser, the engineer who located the first portion of the Peace River C.N.R. line, returned to the city last evening with his party, and is a guest at the Cecil.

The surveyors located the line to a point 30 miles beyond the Athabasca river. He left the city with his party last fall, and has been in the north since, engaged in locating the line that is to tap the north country.

The line as located leaves Onaway, running northwest to the Pembina river, which it crosses at the point where the Government road from Edmontsville to Greencourt, crosses the river.

From that point the road strikes northwest to the Athabasca river, and runs up the Athabasca for a distance of 30 miles beyond the mouth of the McLeod river.

It has been necessary to carry the line this distance up the Athabasca to get a suitable crossing of the river. A crossing will not be possible at Fort Assiniboine, which was generally considered to be the point at which railways towards the Peace river would cross the Athabasca.

After crossing the Athabasca, 30 miles beyond the McLeod, the line strikes direct northwest towards Dunvegan. The surveyors carried the line as far as the summit between the Smoky and the Peace rivers.

The location of the line has now been completed for a distance of nearly 80 miles. It is expected that the location will be completed to Dunvegan next year.

It is understood that this line will ultimately be made a transcontinental line through to the Pacific coast by way of the Pine Pass, and will have terminals on the Pacific coast on the Portland Canal.

An action which promises to be a lengthy and complicated one, and which affects development of large coal fields west of Edmonton, has been started by shareholders of the Pacific Pass Coal Company of Edmonton, against the principle directors of the company, by a proposed merger of the company with other prominent coal companies, and to also prevent the issuance of an additional $100,000 worth of stock of the Pacific Pass Coal Company.

The action has been taken in the supreme court of Quebec at Montreal. The plaintiffs are Messrs. B. S. Scott of Edmonton, and Leon Gilmont of Montreal, and defendants named are Messrs. B. ## FANATICS IN KAKOUAN

All Hassan said I ought to see the Zionsans, but were sure I would be slain if I did. Still as I was in Kakouan, the holiest Mussulman city in all Africa, it would be a pity if I failed, writes John Foster Fraser in the Manchester Chronicle. The ceremony took place regularly every Friday evening at Sandown, in the Zionsa monastery, just outside the Gate of Djidjilun. Friday was impossible. He knew the head of the sect and a service could be arranged. So he it.

The Aissanans are strictly Moslems and followers of Aissa, a Moroccan who taught them the surest way to please Allah, reach the realms of bliss, and pass eternally with the most beautiful hours by self-torture on earth.

It was the hot hour of the day and the white walls of Kakouan reflected heat into the eyes like the glare of a mirror. It was the dead dry heat, and each breath was like drawing a flame into the lungs. All Hassan smiled when I pointed. He wore a gendoura, a long shirt of red with blue, edged with green. Black hair, stabled his chin and I inspired with 40 days after death a relief, and it was seven days since his sister was laid to rest amongst the sand hills outside the walls of Kakouan. It was so hot that the way was nearly deserted. An old hag of a woman, with her headscarf and wrinkled cheeks ill-concealed by the hails which were drawn over the head, led a decrepit old man, who whined and with his fingers pulled down the skin to show the red sockets where eyes had once been. A gift to the blind would be marked to my credit by the good Allah.

A camel came with rhythmic swing along the sand road—a slow pace, heedless of time. On the hump was a bundle of black cloth. Between the hills I saw a face, yellowish, cadaverous, with eyes sunken and dull. Saliva was dripping from the blacked lips.

"Yes," said All Hassan, "when a Moslem is like to die he travels many days so he can breathe his last in Kakouan, for the Koran says that he who dies in a holy city goes to Paradise at once."

There was the soft pat of a drum and the wail of a pipe. Here was the Zionsa, and at the door the headman met me. He was big and sallow and bearded and turbaned, and his right eye looked as though it had been seared with a poker. Across a courtyard and then into a half open chamber. There was a stone seat mat spread, on the further side, and I sat down.

Soft hued carpets were strewn on the floor, and on the carpets were sitting men in the costumes of the Orient. They were all brown skinned, and they were singing in minor key to the thump of the hand drum and the plaintive cry of the pipe. They were pale beneath their brownness. Their cheeks were yellow and their lips were blue; their eyes glistened with fanaticism. They were the eyes of men who have seen death and been in pain. But they took no notice and dreamed their song.

The cadence rose, and the pace of the song increased and became a thrum. A man jumped to his feet, left his shoes aside and stood on the stone floor, sea-sawing his body. Two men jumped up, and cast their shoes. Pressing their shoulders against the shoulders of the first man, they began to sea-saw in unison.

Other men sprang up; they stood light-shouldered in a row. They were all singing, but huskily and heavily. The ten-ton sounded louder, the sea-sawing was faster. Backward and forward, backward and forward with increasing heave and at each heave they gasped from the bottom of their throats.

A slim fellow sprang to his feet, his figure was bent, and he began groaning and clenching his fists. He was in the dark and searching for some unknown doorway. He was trembling; he was in anguish; he was horrible to look upon. He pulled off his shirt, and stood naked to the waist. He threw aside his hat and his head was clean shaven except for one long Mahomet tuft at the back. He writhed and twisted his body; twisted lines showed that he had the torture of the damned. He ran to the priest, fell on his knees and wept. He stood upright; his whole frame was in an aspic quiver. He fell on his knees. A man took a long steel ruler and thrust it through the flesh of the shoulder.

Not a groan—but the ten-ton was louder, and the chant became more guttural and vehement, and the sea-saw of the bodies became faster.

The young fanatic with raised arm, held the ruler in his place. A second ruler was thrust into the other shoulder. He held that with the other hand. A man seized a mallet and beating time to the hot breath of the chant, and the rulers in further and further. The blood ran. The rulers were withdrawn. They were brought to me. I turned them to one side. The mallet holder ran his fingers along the blades and whisked the blood upon the floor. The young fanatic sank before the head man, buried his face in his hands, was kissed and soothed.

It was the sound of strong men imitating the starting puff of an engine. The sea-saw became a sharp jerk. At each jerk the gasp Hu-hu-hu-hu! Thump, thump, went the drum. Trill, shrilly went the pipe.

A man, with demonic eye, sprang into the air, his face convulsive and his eyes wide open. He was well to the front. He crawled around, twitching his fingers. He seemed searching for prey so that he might tear his victim. He crawled around, twitching his fingers. He seemed searching for prey so that he might tear his victim.

CANADA.

By J. Glenn Earl.

Offices in thoughtful mood I ask
For Canada, what have I done?
Have ever I shirked the slightest task
When laboring longer would have won
Another wreath for my fair land,
Another flower for her hand?
A garden that the faithful sun,
No rival finds "neath other skies;
Where fragrance of the flowers, as one
Mingle with prayers and upward rise.
A tribute at the King's great throne,
Tribute from Canada, my own.
A gem that lately sparkled forth,
Dazzling the eyes of every land,
Unknown still all her wondrous worth,
By contrast may we understand
The power that once inactive lay
But thrills in every pulse today.
The limpid brooks, the hills, the trees,
The warm and fragrant laden breeze,
The golden grain that waves breast high,
Are minstrels of God's goodwill,
And that His love is with us still.
My Canada: 'tis great to be
A son or daughter of thy soil,
But greater far 'twould be to say
I could I but prove this weak hand loyal,
This faint heart worthy of the name,
Of lengthening, strengthening Canada's fame.
Had I the art, a higher mind,
To pen my thoughts of sincere praise!
But not a pleasure I must find
In rustic, earnest, uncouth lays
That fade before a fair lady's name,
Unworthy I to sing for fame.
Canada, eagerly I ask,
What can I do for thee, my land?
Thy sons can equip us any day
When strengthened by thine own fair hand,
A land to live for, live and love,
A land to die for, die and love.

The boy came into the Cleveland bank and had a half-dollar with him bank book on the receiving teller's window. "We don't receive deposits of less than a dollar," said the teller. The boy yielded reluctantly to the system and drew back. But he did not leave the bank. He crept the corner, and saw the teller's window. The teller noticed him sitting there, and also noticed the reflective look on his face. The boy went for some time, thinking it over. Finally he arose and went to the paying teller's window. He handed over the half-dollar and the teller, "I want to deposit this dollar and half," he said. The receiving teller smiled. The boy had just drawn a dollar from his little balance and was using it as an entrance fee to the bank. The teller said, "And so the system was beaten by the boy, and a considerable accession of bookkeeping labor was the price of defeat."

THE "HEAVY" DUCHESS

The Duchess of Connaught, who is coming to Canada, is one of the most travelled members of the royal family, and has, indeed, roughed it bravely before now. In which connection a amusing story is told. When out in Egypt with the duke she had to be carried on one occasion on a sort of improvised Sedan chair, with muskets for the framework and Egyptian soldiers for bearers. "I hope your men will not be tired," said the Duchess, pleasantly to the native officer in command. "Indeed, no, gracious madam," was the prompt reply, "you are no heavier than the sun they are accustomed to carry."

THACKERAY ON THE MUSTHINGS

Talking Thackeray and his efforts to get into Parliament, Grant Duff, in his diary under the year 1875 notes the remark of the novelist when he faced the electors. "He (J. R. Green) gave me the most remarkable account of canvassing Oxford with Thackeray, whose want of power of public speaking seems to have been extraordinary. On the hustings he utterly broke down and I heard him say to himself, 'If I could only go into the mayor's parlor for five minutes I could write this out quite well.'"

The boy came into the Cleveland bank and had a half-dollar with him bank book on the receiving teller's window. "We don't receive deposits of less than a dollar," said the teller. The boy yielded reluctantly to the system and drew back. But he did not leave the bank. He crept the corner, and saw the teller's window. The teller noticed him sitting there, and also noticed the reflective look on his face. The boy went for some time, thinking it over. Finally he arose and went to the paying teller's window. He handed over the half-dollar and the teller, "I want to deposit this dollar and half," he said. The receiving teller smiled. The boy had just drawn a dollar from his little balance and was using it as an entrance fee to the bank. The teller said, "And so the system was beaten by the boy, and a considerable accession of bookkeeping labor was the price of defeat."

NEBRASKA MAY HAVE TRAMP CITY

State Colony Is Proposed for Welfare, Drunkards and Other Delinquents

Lincoln, Neb., Mar. 10.—A City of Vagabonds is to be established by the state of Nebraska, and all tramps, drunkards, or delinquents of other kinds who drift into this state will be in danger of being made citizens of the new colony. The "city" will not rob the penitentiary of any of its inmates, but is intended to take care of that large class of unfortunate delinquents described by professional charity workers as "below the poverty line." The bill creating the new colony is before the Nebraska legislature, with every chance of becoming a law. It will be the first institution of its kind in the United States, and as an experiment about which there is no doubt, it is sure to attract the attention of sociologists everywhere. Imagine a colony in which every citizen is a tramp, a vagrant, a dope fiend, or a "delinquent" of some kind or other, and you have the proposed "New City of Vagabonds." No real criminals will be admitted to the citizenship, but only "unfortunates" will be accepted.

Farms and Shops
The bill calls for the establishment of a colony out on the prairie, far from the temptations of a big city. The size of the institution is not mentioned.

in the bill, but its backers think from 5,000 to 10,000 acres will be necessary once the colony is in full working order. In addition to a big farming area, there will be shops of all kinds—an iron foundry, a shoe shop, a book bindery, a tailor shop, a furniture factory, a planing mill, and others of this kind. The output of the colony will be in competition with that of private concerns, but will be used, in great measure, by the state in the different state institutions.

As described in the bill, the purpose of the establishment of a colony for the detention, humane discipline and reformation of male adults committed as tramps, vagrants, inebriates and those addicted to the excessive use of cocaine, morphine and other narcotics and unable to provide for those dependent upon them.

Released When Self-Supporting
Practically, when one coming within those lines is brought before the proper authorities, instead of being sentenced to the jail or the state prison, he will be sent to the city. No fixed term of incarceration is settled upon, but the delinquent is simply sent to the city until he becomes self-supporting after which he is sent back to the world as a man able to take care of himself. While in the "city" he is taught an occupation or trade to support himself, he is sent out into the world a skilled laborer.

"There are nearly 100,000 professional tramps in this country," says Miss Ida V. Jontz, secretary of the Associated Charities, who has charge of the new bill before the legislature. "Something must be done to eliminate them and to prevent them from reproducing their kind. The world has to take care of these tramps, and it will be far cheaper to gather them into a few great 'Tramp Cities' than to feed and clothe them individually. Eliminate Recruits
"It is only those who are below the poverty line and the 'City of Vagabonds' is designed to assist. Those who are simply 'down on their luck' can be cared for otherwise, but the tramp, the drunkard and others of that stripe, and not especially criminal, are menaces to society both now and in the future. 'And it is from this class that the bands of criminals are recruited. Eliminate them and the solution of 'What to do with our criminals' will be solved. There will be no recruiting grounds and to a great degree there will be no criminal classes. Among those who will be accepted at the new colony will be physical degenerates, epileptics, epileptics, intellectual inferiors, imbeciles, and those whose moral degenerates and others of that class.

Will Be Paid for Work
The colonists will be forced to work and will receive wages just as other men do. One-half of their salaries will be paid to their families or other dependent upon them; the other half will be held by the state until such time as the men are discharged, at which time it will be handed them in cash.

It is the belief of the supporters of the bill that from two to ten years will be needed in which to make the colonists self-supporting, and as long as they have not reached that stage they will remain at the institution. When one who has been committed shows a disposition to escape, to refuse to work, he will be dealt with in such manner that he will soon change his mind and will obey the rules of the institution.

In the establishment of such a colony the bill claims the following results will be obtained:
It will improve the undeveloped men.
It will lessen crime.
It will take away a goodly portion of the land now carried by the asylums.
It will tend to discourage young hoboism, as it makes the road harder to follow.
It will afford humane treatment to the "down-and-out" class.
And above all it will eventually eliminate this class of people from society.

A HANDSOME TRIBUTE TO DR. RUTHERFORD

By the election of Dr. Rutherford to the senate of the university by the largest vote, a handsome and deserved tribute was paid to the man who more than any other individual was responsible for the establishment of the University of Alberta.

A DIVERGENT VIEW DOES NOT PHASE THE COMMISSIONER

In a statement given out for publication, Mr. Bouillon and Mr. Butchart state that if the mayor fails to co-operate with them they will hold commission meetings and will proceed to govern the city themselves, irrespective of the elected representatives of the ratepayers.

Mr. Bryan, who once had a chance for the presidency of the United States, coined the phrase that "governments derive their just powers through the consent of the people governed," and this phrase was accepted without protest by eighty millions of people.

Mr. Bouillon, however, seems to view matters differently. The mere matter of a few millions of people holding a divergent view apparently does not phase the commissioner whom Edmonton has employed to carry out the dictates of the people who employ him.

COMMISSIONER MORE POLITICIAN THAN COMMISSIONER

Because the city solicitor refuses to take upon himself the onus of deciding ahead of the courts how a commissioner can be removed from the city hall, Commissioner Bouillon avers that the solicitor is not working for his clients, the ratepayers.

Mr. Bouillon may be right. Possibly he is. But up to the hour of going to press there is nothing to indicate that Commissioner Bouillon is a ratepayer.

The generally accepted interpretation of Mr. Bouillon's position has been that he was an employee of the ratepayers, holding a job at a stated price per month, and that he was to be guided by the city solicitor as much as by anybody else. The idea that he was qualified to demand from the city solicitor any service is a Bouillon idea.

Whether the city commissioner likes or dislikes the way the city solicitor interprets the law is a matter which the commissioner should bring to the attention of the council. To take his views to the newspapers shows that the commissioner is more politician than commissioner—which is something that has been said before.

WHAT ALBERTA CAN TRADE WITH SPOKANE COUNTY

The Spokane Spokesman-Review is authority for the statement that Spokane county spends $100,000 annually for dairy products shipped in from eastern dairies.

With the duty on butter removed by the reciprocity arrangement, Alberta creameries will have access at once to this large and growing market.

The free trade theory provides that each country should produce the products for which it is best adapted. A protection arrangement which keeps Alberta butter out of Spokane county and at the same time keeps Spokane fruit out of Alberta is so manifestly absurd as to require no illustration.

Alberta could no more produce the fruit for which Spokane county is adapted than the dry lands of Spokane could produce the butter for which Alberta is adapted.

But with the tariff barrier removed Alberta can meet the world in supplying the Spokane market or any other market with dairy products, and if Spokane county cannot meet the world in supplying Alberta with fruit that is only an indication that Spokane should turn its attention to some other industry.

JUST PARAGRAPHS

Speaking about the men who can't come back, Bill Miner would probably like to be included in the number.

Everything is now complete for a prosperous 1911. The six club league will round out the programme.

Sifton, Monk, Bourassa and "Billy" Maclean would make an excellent quartette to lead a third party in Canada.

Besides singing "I met my love on the Alamo," the boys in blue down on the Rio Grande will be singing some songs pretty soon to which the full stops will be supplied by the crack of the Mauser.

Those people who are afraid that reciprocity will lead to annexation should be more quiet about it just now until the agreement goes through—and then watch reciprocity undo the war of 1776 and bring United States back under the British flag.

The Calgary Albertan avers that Calgary has received more publicity from the municipal operation of its street railway than any other town has from any other source. The Albertan overlooks the publicity Edmonton is getting from its commissioners.

Mr. Bouillon asks the city solicitor to describe the method by which a commissioner could be removed from the city hall. Without intending at all to invade the province of the city solicitor, we respectfully suggest that the council might try a hydraulic jack.

Joe Cannon refused an offer of $500 a night for one hundred nights because he says he is too busy. A man who has been running United States so long as Joe Cannon has been might be excused for getting the idea that he has some unfinished business on hand.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY"

Edward Terry, the noted English actor, who has been touring Canada, was born in London, March 10, 1814, and made his first bow on the stage in an amateur with the "Theban Dramatic Club," and showing promise as an actor, entered the profession in 1832. For several years he played in a number of the provincial cities of England.

In 1867 he made his first appearance in London at the Theatre. It was not until two years later, however, that he secured his first big success as "Paul Pry." At the Strand, where he went the following season, his appearance in several successful pieces paved the way for his popularity to be won during the next engagement at the Gaiety. This engagement lasted until 1881, during which time the actor won a number of well known plays. Mr. Terry opened his own theatre in London in 1887, since when his most successful productions have been "Sweet Lavender," "My Cousin," "The House of Holes," and "The House of Holes." In 1904 he made his first tour of America. He has appeared in Australia, New Zealand, India, South Africa, Egypt, Morocco, and in the countries of Europe.

A NATURAL PHENOMENON

If Mr. Sifton ventures to run azele in Brandon, there is every probability that the country will witness an unusual natural phenomenon, to wit: Cliff going over precipice.

KEEPING FAITH

(Transfer Expositor)
The printers employed in a couple of Chicago newspapers have been compelled by the International Union to call off an unauthorized strike which had been made defiance of an agreement to submit all matters of dispute to arbitration. It is the very essence of collective bargaining that absolute good faith be kept between employer and employee, and it is gratifying to know that most of the great labor organizations recognize this fact.

MORNING AFTER IN DRY BELT

(Calgary Albertan)
Some person has estimated that when Calgary has a population of 200,000, which will be in a few years, it will drink up the Elbow river, and many a young man, waking up Sunday in the early morning has come to the conclusion that he could do it single-handed without the help of the other 349,999.

MARKET FOR ALBERTA

The Spokane county has discovered that it needs more cows. The Spokane-Review says: "It was dreamed about Jan. 1 that the Spokane county spends approximately $100,000,000 a year for the products of eastern dairies. The further declaration was made that the Island Empire could avail itself of 100,000 milk cattle. There seems no reason why the economic dream of Spokane money to the east for butter, cheese, and milk should continue. The development of dairying and poultrying would enrich this region. It would retain capital here for the development of the country. It would increase the natural fertility of the soil. It would lessen the cost of living. There are other districts of which these things may be said."

Chinese Government Announces That It Has No Intention of Violating Treaty

Peking, Mar. 10.—The foreign board today handed to M. Korostovitz, the Russian minister's reply to a Russian request for a more explicit statement on several disputed points that was contained in the original answer to the demand for a closer adherence to the provisions of the treaty affecting Mongolia and Chinese Turkestan.

It is stated that the present news assurance that the Chinese government proposes to abide by the treaty of 1858 and renounces by expressing the hope that Russia will appreciate this country's attempts at friendliness.

WILL DREDGE FOR GOLD ON SASKATCHEWAN.

and bar has been purchased by the Edmonton Concrete Co., and an effort is being made to blast a channel through which the craft can be brought into the current and down stream for gravel dredging work on the high level bridge.

It is now learned that the Clark Company are to turn their attention to the Saskatchewan at this place and will shortly send a new and unusual kind of dredge which is expected to solve the problem of successful placer mining. The body of this dredge is said to be composed of spiral metal tubes, which in reality form an immense raft 100 by 40 feet in surface area. Upon this should be installed the machinery and equipment for dredging and washing the gold. Very extensive experiments were carried out here and another experimental campaign will probably result in success. It is understood the new metal dredge will be put in operation here this summer.

Council Opens Tenders.

A special meeting of the city council was held yesterday afternoon at which all the members in the city attended, as well as the officials of the engineering and electrical departments, for the purpose of opening and accepting the tenders received from eastern machinery manufacturers for the supply of new machinery required at the power house.

Owing to the large number of tenders on hand and the mass of figures and signs of something wrong about the place and upon going into the house found his employee, a man named Geo. Barker, long unemployed and on the floor in what proved to be a paralytic stroke. Mr. Turnbull phoned for medical assistance and upon the advice of the doctor brought the unfortunate man to the city hospital, where he died early Wednesday morning without regaining consciousness.

The late Mr. Barker, who was about 54 years of age, had been around Strathcona for the past eight years, coming here from Michigan. He has been employed for the greater part of the time in mining with J. Walter. About two years ago he suffered his first paralytic stroke and since that time was somewhat disabled. He was considered last fall by Mr. Turnbull to do light coaling work about the farm and when seen by Mr. Turnbull Monday afternoon appeared in very good spirits. A married daughter resides in Denver, Colo., who has already received notice of the death. The deceased was a member of Outfitters and it is possible the burial will be made under the order. No definite arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

Varsity Ready for B. & K. Match.
It was decided last night that the first game in the Breckenridge trophy series will be played in Edmonton tomorrow night between the Varsity and the Challengers are in the fight for the trophy and are now regarded as a team of homegrown players of ability.

Varsity will line up the regular team, Johnson being on point, and a number of reserves. The series will attract much interest amongst Strathcona fans.

Police Court Doings.

A Galician idea of a good time and also to what degree it was enjoyed, but before he is drunk was part of the interesting evidence brought out in the hearing on Monday case of the morning this week before Magistrate Downes. Mike Krupp charged John Workman with false assault without provocation at a Galician dance fifteen miles southwest on a Sunday three weeks ago. Krupp contended, supported by a state witness, Kozla, that Workman struck him twice on the head, when holding good night, in a crowd of four or five after the festivities. The magistrate thought Workman was guilty notwithstanding his denial of the assault, and gave a nominal fine, which with costs amounted to $13.50. It appears there were two widdies the same Sunday, and here Downes freely admitted that he was a widdie, "rejoiced" the party. Kozla, solicitor for Workman, "But I wasn't drunk." I call a man drunk when he lays down." All apparently led to this same view.

Strathcona Locals.

After weeks of careful preparation a company of local talent will render the cantata "The New Jerusalem," the basical church to-night and the event will probably be one of the real successes of the season. Mr. McCall the conductor, has the company in excellent training which should make the chorists particularly fine. At a congregation of Sunday evening after a program of songs and addresses the choir, Mr. Cox was presented with very desirable tokens of esteem and appreciation. Miss Wainwright received a purse including a substantial cheque, and Mr. Cox was presented with a handsome driving cap. The choir of the G.P.H. has been recruited as far as Harbottle and John Red. A number of Leche brothers were in the city last night to attend a meeting of the local Masonic lodge. A very enjoyable evening is reported from the large number of members present.

Major Jamieson, city solicitor, returned home this week from his extended trip through southern California and Mexico.

The building formerly occupied by the Billie theatre is being remodelled.

POPULATION PLACED AT OVER 8,000,000

Dominion Census Commission Looks for an Increase of Over Fifty Per Cent.

Ottawa, Ont., March 10.—"We hope and feel that census of Canada to be taken this summer will show an increase in population of the country over that of the last official census in 1901 of about 50 per cent," said Mr. A. G. Macdonald, census commissioner, in a report to-day.

Mr. Macdonald stated that all the commissioners had been appointed and that enumerators would be appointed shortly. The names of all the census agents would appear simultaneously in the Canada Gazette. Work would be commenced on June 1st and it would consume more time than the last one, owing to the large increase in population and the additional ground to be covered.

According to Mr. Macdonald's estimate, the census will show the total population to be about 8,000,000. The 1901 was 5,271,000. The estimate is largely based on the immigration figures for the past ten years and the natural increase during that period.

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY RETURNS FROM THE EAST. Has No Announcement to Make Regarding Appointments for Provincial Asylum Staff.

Hon. A. J. McLean, provincial secretary, was in his office this morning, after a three weeks' trip to Eastern Canada, where he went on business in connection with the opening of the new provincial asylum at Ponoka next month.

Mr. McLean stated to the Capital this morning, that there was no announcement to make at present regarding appointments for the staff of the provincial asylum.

Before returning to the city, Mr. McLean, who is one of the biggest ranchers in Alberta, visited his ranches in the south. He states that all of his cattle are in splendid condition. He took the precaution early in the season of collecting his herds, and providing feed for them.

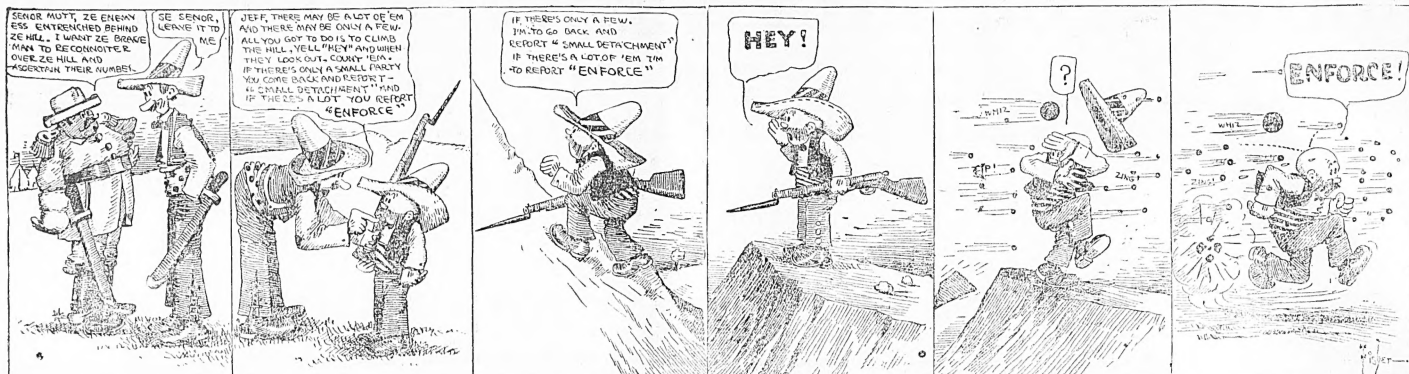

He states that conditions among some of the herds are not as good as might be desired, although he has suffered no loss to speak of this winter.

BRACKMAN-KER CUP COVETED BY THE UNIVERSITY CITY

VARSITY BOYS SEEK TO WIN BACK THE SILVER FOR STRATCONA AND WILL PLAY WITH DEACONS FOR POSSESSION OF COVETED TROPHY—FIRST GAME WILL BE PLAYED OFF TO-NIGHT AT THISTLE RINK.

Four years of unostentatious possession of the Brackman-Ker hockey cup by the Edmonton amateurs were brought to an end yesterday, when the rah rah boys of Stratcona hurled a deft to the Edmonton champions, a challenge which was immediately accepted by the team which now guards the coveted trophy, the Deacons' septet.

At the time when the Brackman-Ker company donated the trophy for which the amateurs of the twin city compete it was stipulated that the masters of Edmonton and Stratcona and Hon. A. C. Butterfield should be trustees of the cup, and yesterday the challenge from the Varsity team, which seeks to wrest the cup from the hands of its present holders, was made through Mayor Armstrong. His worship immediately communicated with Deacon White, and within the space of a few minutes it became known that the Deacons if they are to retain the cup will be heirs to no empty glory, won by the veterans of 1906-1907, but will win the cup by right of a new conquest.

Manager Young responded without delay and the date were arranged for the three games which are to decide the ownership. The first of the three games will be played off tonight in the Thistle rink at 8.15. The second game will be played in Stratcona on Wednesday next, March 15, and the third (if a third be necessary to determine the issue), will be played in the played in the Thistle ring on Friday, March 17.

For a number of years past amateur hockey in the Twin Cities has suffered a partial eclipse, but the revival of 1910-11 has given birth to a spirit of competitiveness in the hockey enthusiasts of the Varsity city, and upon the University boys devolves the honor of striving to win laurels as the capturers of the silver.

Edmonton has had undisputed possession of the Brackman-Ker cup since the year 1907, when Stratcona made an unsuccessful attempt to win back the trophy. It was in 1906 that an Edmonton team first won title to the championship of the Twin cities.

Both the Deacons and Varsity are loyal up to the hilt, each can boast thousands by the prospective crowd.

BRIEF BOXING BIFFS

Bartley Connolly is running a fight club in Portland, Me., and getting his share of the good performers.

Champion Wolgar and Owen Moran have been offered a $12,500 purse to box in Juana, Lower California.

The latest new blow in the boxing game is the "molar snap," which was pulled in Boston recently when Kid Wilson fastened his teeth on Joe Stein's ear. The inventor has been blacklisted.

Johnny Goulon, the new bantam champion, boxes with a decided crouch.

Willie Lewis has signed for several bouts in Paris and sail for France on March 28.

On account of so many promoters trying to pull off fights the police of Indianapolis have threatened to put the crusher on the game.

The defeat of Freddie Welsh by Matt Wells for the lightweight championship of England was a big surprise to fight fans.

Langford was expected to whip Bill Lang. No one gave the Australian better than an outside chance, notwithstanding his great advantage in weight.

Johnson said he would meet Langford anywhere and at any time after three months if his terms were met.

The champion said that he would insist upon an American referee if the contest should be held in London.

This is what Eddie Smith has to say about Tommy Burns' challenge to Jack Johnson on behalf of Jack Lester.

"First Listen Tommy Burns has defied Jack Johnson to box his novice, Jack Lester. Now, if you don't think that a good bit of advertising for the baby heavyweight, you don't realize the value of attracting attention to a new corner in the boxing game.

The funniest thing that Tommy says, however, is that Lester will prove to the world that Johnson is the poorest excuse for a heavyweight champion the game has known. The same Johnson won the title by winning so easily from Tommy, however, that it is to laugh to even think of Tommy ever being puffed against the negro. It surely is a scream to read the fool stuff that Burns gets off ever so often, but this is the best he has sprung yet."

and the season will be brought to a close, the indications are, by three exceptionally hard-fought games.

Admission to the championship game tonight and on Wednesday and Friday of next week will be 25 and 50 cents. The games will start promptly at 8.15 each evening. Pete Hurley will referee, while the judge of play will be Scotty McLeod.

The teams will line up tonight:

LUSSI IS PREPARED TO SIGN CONTRACT

DEACON HOPES TO HAVE AN EVEN STRONGER TEAM THAN THAT OF LAST SEASON.

Lussi, the star outfielder of the Edmonton team in the baseball season of 1910, has written Deacon White that he is ready to come back and sign a contract. He says he now weighs 172 pounds and is in first class condition, and ready for another strenuous season. He is going to be sold or drafted, he declares.

Lussi had an enviable record last season. There were to his credit at the end of the season 224 hits, 44 steals, 99 base hits and 131 total base hits. He was fourth in total bases in the Western Canada League. His average was .278 in centre field, and he led all the outfielders in the number of assists.

Lussi is an all-round baseball player. Last season he played practically every position in the field. Another outfielder who will add strength to the team is Dudley, who played right field for Lehigh last year. Dudley fielded .963 and hit .260. He has an exceptional first base. He is a left hand batter. Deacon has just received word that Dudley can be secured.

DIGNITARIES OF BIG LEAGUES OPPOSE BETTING ON BALL GAMES

DECLARE WAGERING ON PRETENTIOUS SCALE SHOULD BE DISCOURAGED BECAUSE OF TENDENCY TO CAST SUSPICIONS ON AMERICAN NATIONAL GAME—SOME PRICES OFFERED BY BOOKIES ON BIG LEAGUE TEAMS.

Chicago, Mar. 9.—(Special.)—

Betting on a pretentious scale has been carried at the head of organized baseball for the first time in recent years. A New York, N.Y., concern, has issued a table of odds or "future book" on the permanent chances of the clubs in the American and National leagues and the American association.

All the dignitaries of organized baseball have launched a tirade of words against the enterprise, but unless something else develops, that appears to be about all they can do about it for the men back of the enterprise are not connected with baseball. In fact they are former race track and pool-room men, who think they see a fertile field for speculation in the popularity of the national pastime.

Of course, open betting at baseball parks can be stopped and persisted and noisy fans, who insisted on backing their opinion, have been removed from the stands in many cities, while in a majority of big league parks players are posted warning against betting on the result of games.

The commission company has sent out its prospectus "by express" and will not accept wagers by mail, apparently not desiring to give Uncle Sam any opportunity to step in with a fraud order and stop its mail. Under its mode of operation, which accepts bets only by letters sent by express, telegraph or telephone, it remains to be seen whether anything can be done to circumvent the scheme.

Taking Long Chances. Several times in the past bookmakers have offered odds on baseball performance, but the play as a rule has not been large and moreover it was only on two or three clubs, so bookies had no chance to round up the book and generally quit losers. It is somewhat difficult to see how the bookies expect to quit winner, unless by some unexpected freak an outsider should step up and capture the butting. This is less likely in a long championship season than in a horse race, for the battle for top honors generally is between two or three clubs and these clubs in most instances can be picked at the beginning of the season. The race in the National league this year, however, is more open than for some time although western clubs can see nothing but the Cubs to repeat while Eastern critics are stringing with New York. Both sets of handicappers give Pittsburgh and Cincinnati a look in for the title.

In the future prices offered by the Newport concern the Giants are made favorite at 8 to 5, with the Cubs second choice at 5 to 2, prices which seem out of line in view of the 1910 result in the National league. Pittsburgh is placed at 4 to 1, with Cincinnati 5 to 1, and the others strung out down to Boston, against which the meager odds of 60 to 1, which might about as well be 1,000 to 1, is offered.

In the American league, the Athletics are strong favorites at 6 to 5, with Detroit second at 4 to 1 and the highlanders third choice at 5 to 1, with St. Louis.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN A MOTOR CAR

Nowadays the buyer of a motor car must ask other questions than "Will it take me there and bring me back?" Any good car of a dozen makes will do that.

But ask these questions before purchasing.

How long will this car keep its youth; its good appearance; its wholesome sound? Will it be economical? Is there an organization back of this car that can make good the guarantee of service? Has this car beauty of line and finish? Refinements? Style? Will it give the utmost comfort at all times?

Will it be a good seller in a year, two years, five years from now? A Chalmers car will be, because strict one-price policy establishes a standard price for second-hand Chalmers cars. As for the answers to the other questions, we believe the Chalmers can give better answers than any other company.

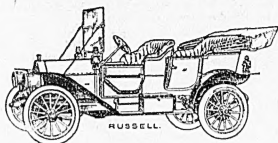

This program on the radio stands for all you can ask in a motor car.

Chalmers cars are good cars. You have the word of 14,000 Chalmers owners if you care to ask them. And you have the word of other makers and sellers of cars if you care to ask them.

You have the record of Chalmers cars in all kinds of contests—their crowning victory being the winning of the Glidden Trophy in the longest and most trying tour ever held.

TO THE OFFICE and HOME AGAIN

Own an Automobile and live in the country. Do business in the city but have your home outside. Think of a run to your office every morning through the clear air, five, ten, or perhaps twenty miles. You are independent of crowded street cars. You are independent of trains and their time tables. And you arrive at the office full of "go" and "ginger"—ready for a big day's work.

Then when the day's work is over you have a quiet spin home again through the cool air, get there in time and feeling refreshed. It's really LIVING to live like that. This is one practical side of the good Automobile. Another is the use you can get out of it in business during the day.

WINNER OF GLIDDEN TROPHY EXPLAINS HOW HE FINISHED AHEAD IN ENDURANCE RACE

Excitement for a Pacific coast route for the Glidden tour for 1911 is increasing as the time for the big road endurance run draws near and, while there is no positive assurance that the long line of dust-covered machines will be seen here, yet there seems to be a strong possibility of a Coast tour.

The A.A.A. officials are already busy mapping out various courses in an effort to make the next tour as attractive as possible. Among those most interested in the 1911 reliability run is William Bolger, who won the 1910 tour in a Chalmers "Thirty" touring car. Bolger tells an interesting story of how he won the Glidden trophy.

"Three factors are necessary to the winning of a big endurance run," says Bolger. "They are a good car, good luck and intelligent driving. Of course, good luck and good driving might bring a poor car through a short tour, but only a good car can get through a tour of sixteen days, covering 2,851 miles. On the other hand, either bad luck or careless driving could kill the chances of the finest cars in such a tour. Given the car and an even break in the luck, it all comes down to the driver."

"Strange as it may seem, success in driving a tour is not so much a question of control of the car by the driver as it is the control of the driver by the car. Any one can learn in a few minutes how to control a car, letting in the clutch, shifting the gears, putting on the brakes, and all that. But learning how to control one's self in the car is a different thing."

Big Temptation. "An automobile is a temptation. In many ways it is the strongest temptation I know. It is a temptation which only a few can learn to resist. It is a temptation to speed. You can feel it in the throbbing motor. By just pressing a little button you can sail along faster than the wind. Once experienced that sensation of speed and you are hooked."

NEW YORK MAY LOSE VANDERBILT RACE

Detroit is the Chief Rival—Militia Needed to Patrol Course.

It is impossible at present to state with any degree of authority whether or not New York will see a Vanderbilt cup race next fall. The donor of the cup does not know and neither do the men with whom he entrusts the running of the event. Many persons interested in motor affairs say that the public outcry after last autumn's killings makes revival out of the question. Unless the course can be policed by militia the race will not again be held on Long Island. If not it will go to another city. This is the opinion of many local automobile authorities. Said a man interested in the racing game who requested that his name be withheld:

"The only thing that will save the Vanderbilt to Long Island will be the guarantee of militia for the policing arrangements. There cannot be another race held under last year's conditions. With troops, however, it would be a different story. The course at Savannah and Elgin were policed by troops and there was no trouble with the crowds. It could be the same way on Long Island, and that is what we are after."

"You saw in the Manufacturers' Contest association's scheduled changes in the racing rules that a movement was under way to ask the governors of the different States where road races were held to call out the militia to police the courses. This project was undertaken with the Vanderbilt in view. It was aimed primarily to save the race to Long Island, where it always has been held. I am convinced that unless this State looks favorably on the militia policing proposition the Vanderbilt will have to pack up and move elsewhere."

"Savannah? I do not think there is a chance in the world of the race being held there. Why should it? They have the Grand Prix, that's enough. Remember, road racing does not begin and end at Savannah. There are other cities that want the Vanderbilt and will make determined efforts to land it if Long Island falls down."

"During show week I heard a Detroit man say that his city was after the Vanderbilt. He declared that if New York was unable to stage the event Detroit would be one of the first to come through with a proposition. He added that many persons he had talked with there were intensely interested in the chance of holding the Vanderbilt. Of course, it may be a different proposition when the question of putting up enough money arises, but I think the Detroit folks would make good."

"Then there is Chicago. Chicago wants a big road race. The motorists of that section were given a sample of the game when the Gobe cup and Indian trophy races were held there in 1909. These events had none of the promises of the Vanderbilt and were not a success financially. Chicago would be right in line, however, were the Vanderbilt to be put on the market. And there is Lowell. The textile ways have a craving to experience it again. Hence, you must be always reminding yourself, for if you give way to the desire for speed on an endurance run you are lost. Another car may come past you and throw up dust until you learn to like it. Then is when you must be patient. You must endure the unpleasant feeling that you are temporarily behind in the procession for the sake of the bigger prize you have a chance of winning later."

The notice one gets for being the first in at the night controls is a nice thing, too, and it is natural to want that publicity. When I first began driving in tours I thought myself pretty smart to get in first at the night controls. After a few disappointments at the end of the tours I came to the knowledge that it is seldom the car that wins the contest first which wins the big honor at the finish."

"Take it easy. That is the best advice I know how to give any one who thinks of entering a long tour. I have a superstition that a car has feelings a good deal like people have. I think a car can be worried just the same as a horse or a man can be worried. And just as a horse or a man cannot do his best work when worried, so it is with a motor car. A good car has a way of taking it easy on its own account if only its driver will study it a bit and humor it along."

Has Its Limit.

"An automobile ready for a tour represents just so much endurance and energy. It starts with 100 per cent. Each mile it is driven takes away a little bit of its energy and lessens by a fraction its chances of remaining in absolutely perfect shape. It is the driver's business to make his mileage on the smallest possible consumption of his car's capital of energy. He should drive as if every rod of the road were fatal to his car's success and yet he must do it without worrying his mount."

"I think many drivers have made the mistake of trying to hang onto their perfect technical scores too long. At a baseball game you often see the pitcher give a base on balls for the sake of a chance at a double play to retire the opposing side. Sometimes by taking a small technical penalty on the road you can save yourself many points in the technical examination at the finish."

"I've really won the last Glidden tour in this way. Although my Chalmers lost its perfect score five days longer than any other car on the tour, there came a day when we had to decide whether we would issue a base on balls, so to speak. We knew we could go ahead as we were without an adjustment, but finally decided we would take a light penalty rather than take chances of badly damaging our car later on. While we got a penalty which spoiled our perfect score at a time when the attention of the whole automobile country was focused on our record, still our stitch in time saved nine, for in the technical examination following the tour we got less penalization than any of our rivals. If we hadn't made a few minor adjustments when we did, our final showing would have been spoiled."

"I have driven some pretty hard tours, but the worst I ever drove was the 1910 Glidden tour. Positively it was a crime to ask a motor car to go over that route. I never saw machinery so abused as were the cars that went from Cincinnati to Chicago by way of Dallas, in that tour. I don't think I would drive over that route again for $10,000. Any car that ever finished that tour has some mighty good stuff in it."

A. A. TRYING TO BUY OUT OLDFIELD

But to Date Negotiations Have Proven Unsuccessful—Wants $50,000 to Retire.

Is the American Automobile Association seeking to buy out Barney Oldfield and end the automobile racing war? Developments here to-day point to such a condition. For the past week William Pickens, manager for Oldfield, has been in communication with the Business Men's Association of Dayton, Ohio, with the result that the greatest speedway in the world has been offered to Oldfield for a series of outlaws races on the same dates as he has been allotted Jacksonville by the three A's.

The loss to the association of the San Antonio track on which Oldfield races Saturday, closely following the defection of sixteen tracks in the northwestern from the three A's, has left the tracks having been evidently alarmed by the officials of the three A's. A. Moross, identified with the association, and at present manager of the Jacksonville track meet, and director of contests of the proposed national circuit wired Oldfield offering a sum claimed to be $50,000 for his racing outfit and his promise to retire from racing.

Oldfield wired Moross to bring the money here, and to-night Moross arrived, but was unable to see Oldfield, who was the guest of honor at a banquet of the press club.

William Pickens, manager for Oldfield, said: "This offer comes from none but the three A's. The cars are suspended and are not worth a cent to any promoter affiliated with the association unless for racing purposes. For my part I think Moross is on a wild goose chase and that Oldfield will not sell."

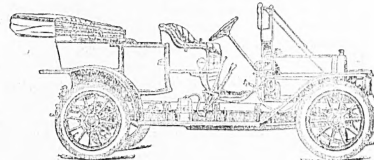

The composer of "Salome" was dining one night with a party of musical friends when the conversation turned on the compositions of the Kaiser. Some of the guests had expressed their opinions pretty freely, when Herr Strauss put his finger to his lips and said: "Sh! sh! You should never run down the compositions of crowned heads in company. There is no telling who wrote them."

A Kansas man was telling about a cyclone that swept his farm clean, leaving him only his cyclone cellar, his house and the barn. "Yes," he said, "I've been waiting for that." The rancher smiled. "Look that, too," he asserted. "Drive a fence rail into one corner of the corral and truck an oil well that put me on velvet for the rest of my life."

Representative William W. Wilson of Illinois and Representative John D. Dwight of New York, the Republican leader in the Capitol corridor, told Mr. Dwight of his Republican colleague. "How large was your majority?" asked. "Fifty-seven," answered the Illinois member. "Pretty close shave, eh?" observed the "whip." "Do you know," said Mr. Wilson confidently, "I've got an idea that any Republican who got more than a majority of fifty-seven in the last election did it by bribery and corruption."

"THE KISSING GIRL."

Not since the advent of the Gay Musicians has anyone like the Kissing Girl been seen in Edmonton. With bright, bluish eyes, bright and sparkling music, and resplendent costumes, the Kissing Girl pleased and delighted a large audience at the Empire last night.

Miss Texas Guinan, the bright and particular star, as Lina the Kissing Girl, electrified through the performance with luminous vivacity. Miss Guinan is a typical leading lady of the musical comedy club.

Miss Fitzsimmons as Christina made one of the hits of the evening with the "Rose" song with a pretty obbligato by the Misses Faber and De Vere. The singing of Miss Vanity was a feature.

Mr. Louis Landon made a fair attempt at being a leading man, while Messrs. Herman and Whitten held up the comedy end very successfully.

The music was tuneful and bright, but not startling in originality. The "Mayer Punksnickel" song was probably the best of the evening. The "Goodnight" song was catchy but induced a lot of all-time novelties which were better left out of musical comedy.

Taken by far and large, the Kissing Girl was not up to the standard of the Gay Musicians, but provides a very great treat to Edmonton theatre-goers in that it is the nearest approach to the real thing that we have seen for a long time.

TWO ARRESTS ON CHEAPEST LOTS NEAR FIRST STREET

Store at Lacombe Destroyed by Fire Under Peculiar Circumstances—Proprietor in Jail

As the aftermath of a recent destructive fire in Lacombe, in which the heavily insured premises of the Lacombe Produce Company were destroyed, came the arrest in Calgary yesterday of a man named Wilson, who was the proprietor of the store. Wilson, a Dr. Wilson, who is alleged to have been an accomplice in the crime with which he is charged.

The fire which occurred within the past week, resulted in the total destruction of the frame building which Wilson occupied, a building upon which insurance had been taken to the extent of some $14,000. The mounted police effected the arrest yesterday and to-morrow the accused will be brought up to Edmonton under escort.

It is probable that the trial will take place before Magistrate Carstairs at Lacombe. The date of the preliminary has not been set.

REAL ESTATE MAN RELEASED ON BAIL

John A. Barry, Arrested in Los Angeles, Came Up in Police Court Today

John A. Barry, the Edmonton real estate man who left Edmonton about a month ago, after having been involved in a number of real estate transactions which subsequently led to serious charges of fraud, was released on bail yesterday in connection with several transactions in real estate. Prior to Barry's departure, his partner, Mason, had been arrested as being implicated in several transactions which are alleged to be shady.

Mason was committed for trial at the preliminary examination, and obtained his liberty on securing bail for $2000. Barry has now been granted bail at $5000, of which $1000 is given by himself.

The two men who are accused of being implicated in the crooked real estate deals, had offices in the Norwood block, defrauding a number of persons in the city. The property was sold in the city police court this afternoon. It was decided to ask the Hon. A. L. Sifton to accept the nomination for the office of honorary president of the society. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, D. J. McNamara; second vice-president, Miss Graydon; secretary-treasurer, T. G. Pierce; board of directors, Mrs. Boucher, Mrs. Emery, Messrs. J. A. McDougall, M.P.P., Cruickshank, Bowman and J. Henderson.

POLICE ARE SEARCHING FOR JAMES MCLAUGHLIN.

Brother was Murdered in Idaho a Few Days Ago. Murderer is Under Arrest.

As the outcome of a tragedy which occurred at Lewiston, Idaho, on March 5, when William McLaughlin was stabbed to death by a man named Robert Worth, the police of the American city are enquiring as the whereabouts of Jas. J. McLaughlin, brother of the murdered man, who is said to be a fur trader in the Alberta northland.

The real name of the murderer is believed by the police of Lewiston to be Harry Hastings, but the man has employed many aliases, and has a bad record. According to the Canadian police received by the mounted police this morning, he was accused of killing a business partner on the Canadian side of the line. The mounted police here have, however, no record of the murderer's career. Hastings is an old man, sixty one years of age.

COAL AT ST. ALBERT.

Two Shafts Being Sunk Under Supervision of Pittsburgh Expert.

The discovery of a seam of anthracite coal was reported yesterday from St. Albert, on the prairie, which is being developed by Raymond, Brutinel, and which is controlled by Montreal capitalists.

The coal was struck at a depth of about 200 feet, which is a greater depth than has yet been reached in any mine in the district. The coal is said to be much harder than any that has yet been struck in the new mines west of the city.

Development work is being carried on by experts employed by Mr. Brutinel. Two shafts are being sunk by W. H. Hyde, of Pittsburgh, coal mining expert, who is now in the city supervising operations.

NEED LARGER QUARTERS.

Mr. Moody, general manager of the Mundy Hite Print and Engraving Co., has recently returned from a business trip in the east and has decided owing to the increase in business to enlarge their present office in the Empire Block. They have added two draughtsmen to their staff in order to cope with the increasing demand for good work promptly carried out.

For the special accommodation of their customers they have installed a lady manager of the order and sales department, who has the time to the answering of enquiries, and the sale of maps, and surveys instruments. With these advantages the public will find them the best accommodation for this class of work in the city, and the firm is upholding their present reputation for the best blue and white prints in the west.

Louis the outsider at 60 to 1. Expert opinion generally gives the Highlanders a better chance than Detroit, which is thought to be some back, although the Tigers never are out of it, with their batting strength, and would be right in the running any time their pitching staff was strong.

Aside from the interest which the figures create, for Americans are prone to do and figure, the effect of the betting upon baseball is to be considered, for it is safe to say the book will get a pretty fair play despite the appeal of baseball officials to fans to discourage the enterprise by refusing to bet.

Betting should be discouraged on baseball, not necessarily because of any detriment for or against betting as a moral proposition, but because betting would have a tendency to cast suspicion upon a sport which the minds of most persons is as yet untainted by anything crooked in the actual playing of the games. That wagers upon the results of a season's play is in any way likely to influence that play almost is out of the question, but should the races become close and a game or two at the end of the season settle the pennant race, charges might be made that the book influenced the work of some players, especially if the amount of money involved was large. While most persons would not believe these charges, some would, and the integrity of baseball would be undermined just that far.

Larger betting on the result of any single game would be greatly to be deplored, for an unfortunate error, a failure to hit in a crisis, or weakening by a pitcher in a pinch could lead to ugly charges. It is to be hoped baseball will not become involved in some mess through the cupidity of the men backing the new enterprise. The prices offered, interesting as indicating the opinion of outsiders on the results, are reproduced:

NEW YORK MAY LOSE VANDERBILT CUP RACE.

City is anxious to take another flyer at staging a road race and may make a bid. I know for certain that Lowell is out for some kind of a race meeting. With the Vanderbilt up they would wake up probably and put up some real money. Lowell made a mistake in 1909 in dragging out its meeting for a whole week. Two days of road racing, three trials, Marathon running and motorcycle events were too big a proposition for a city the size of Lowell. One big race like the Vanderbilt could be made a success, however. Oh, well, we shall see.

THE MODERN BLACKSMITH

Willard D. Noshit, in Chicago Evening Post.

Under a costly canopy
The village blacksmith sits;
Before him is a touring car,
Broken into bits,
And the owner, and the chauffeur,
The village blacksmith, sits with
Have almost lost their wits.

As he lights his fat cigar,
He tells his helpers what to do
To straighten up the car,
And the owner, and the chauffeur, too,
Stand humbled while they are.

The village blacksmith, puffs his weed
And smiles a smile of cheer
While his helpers pump the tires
And monkey with the gear—
And the owner and the chauffeur, too,
Stand ready near.

Behind the village blacksmith is
The portal of his shop;
The shop is very large and size,
With a tiled roof on top—
And the owner and the chauffeur,
Too.

At it were glad to stop.
The children going home from school
Look in at the open door;
They like to see him make his bills
And hear the owners roar.

And the chauffeurs weep as they declare
They never paid that before.
He sees each morning to the bank
And sails away his cash;
A high silk hat and long frock coat
Helm him to cut a dash.

But the owner and the chauffeur,
Too,
Their teeth all vainly gnash.
The chauffeur has one since has died,
The smith does not repine;
His humble shop has grown into
A building big and fine.

And it bears "Garage" above the door.
On a huge electric sign.

Its propinquity to the large shops of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and the Industrial City of the city gives it a very great advantage. G. T. P. A.D.
DITION is high and dry and just near enough to the large shops and yards to be free from dust and noise.

Sleeves continue to follow the present lines. That is, bodice sleeves are cut all in one, without seam at the armhole. This leads itself charmingly to the same manner of trimming in long sleeves and the bodices this season. The sleeves are cut rather than stiffer and more youthful than in the past. However, one cannot say many years. The lower edge of the sleeve is the same as the lower edge of the bodice. Never was anything more beautiful than this. It is shorter than the present style, that it is short enough to display the curve of the forearm not long enough to show the wrist. The absolutely loose gathered sleeve end hangs loosely between elbow and hand in a careless manner, as if the sleeve had forgotten to do something for it.

Some of the new styles are wonderful and the holder is exceedingly rich and beautiful. The sleeves are like the original

They have a luscious, fatty sugary smoothness, and, for the most part, the contrary, incline to blue, the gray. The brown shades are wonderful of all, and, to a rich tint, Green is a particularly choice color. It is too strong for a full color, but it is a most effective chief color in trimmings and to hats.

afternoon, two young women, dressed in harem skirts, made their appearance at Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue. In a few moments a crowd of men gathered and followed them. The women were dressed in harem skirts, and the crowd was so dense enough to interfere with street traffic and business in the vicinity. It came to a standstill. The congestion became so great that the women were forced to turn back. At that point could make no impression upon it. As the harem skirts struggled on down Fifth Avenue, a howling, jeering mob followed in their wake. By Forty-second Street the jeering had become a howling. The crowd was so dense that it had swelled from curb to curb and every one seemed bent on getting a look at the new kind of dresses. Thirty-ninth street the crowd had closed in on the women. They were closed in on them. Finally they were produced on account of the crowd which blocked their way. For a while

The soprano effects produced a still more powerful appeal to the gentle and continuous bubbling of the father's everlasting musing. The effect of the operation is not universal, but there are exceptions and on these, the case of a man in Simon's family is a notable example. He was addicted to the "safely" habit, and when he was referred to by a barber as a "safe" man, he blushed and was trimmed. He became very sleepy, the chair and yawning so vigorous that he was obliged to be held to be called to reset the man's jaw.

A Real Paper Fakir.

One of the local papers published a bird story the other day, and the author, a "paper fakir," signed a "frazzle."

Some time ago a telephone operator living at a hotel on Third Avenue was robbed of $70 by a burglar who entered his room while the telegrapher was asleep. To guard against a repetition of the robbery, the telegrapher bought a little trap. He placed a push button within reach of his bed and arranged with the proprietor of the hotel that in case he should ring the bell in

AVIATOR'S SUPERSTITION

Even the Bravest of the Airman Have Peculiar Beliefs

A chapel in the department of the Charente-Inferieure, France, called Notre Dame du Plantin, has just been dedicated to aviators, and a medal with the effigy of this new Notre Dame is going to be struck and distributed to all flyers who ask for it.

It is a curious commentary upon our human weakness that the adepts in this newest science or sport, who seem to brave everything, are really rather
